JB Watch Lists:

How to Create Books from MS. Notepad Documents

By Jim Berg and John Atkinson

Introduction

As an extra service to you and your fellow Members, from 22 January 2011 we introduced the provision of a series of Jim Berg's Watch Lists.

These Watch Lists may be imported into your charting software to help you set up 'Folders' or 'Books' of your own Watch Lists. They will be posted regularly in the Newsletter Members Only Library section, just below where you download the latest newsletter each week.

Disclaimer: Please note that these Lists are provided for educational purposes only and are not buy or sell recommendations.

These new Lists include an Excel spreadsheet of Jim's Industry Groups which meet Jim's JB Fundamental Ratios; plus Notepad (txt) files of recent RSI Alert Signals, as copied from the Newsletter. To keep them current, we will store the latest 2 RSI Alerts Lists on the web page and each week we will add and remove one List.

Soon, we will also be adding lots more Watch List examples.

To import Lists into most charting programs, you will need to enter just the stock codes in a single column, using Microsoft Notepad (found under 'Start – All Programs – Accessories')

As the RSI Alert Lists will be in Notepad format, they may be imported directly.

It is necessary to copy (Ctrl C) the symbols from a Word document or Excel spreadsheet (such as the Industry Groups) and paste (Ctrl V) them into a Microsoft Notepad, then save the 'Notepad' list into the 'Watchlists' folder of your charting program.

For this document, we will refer to JB Premium Charts and the free charting program which comes with JB Premium Data collectively as 'JB Charting'.

Users of MetaStock can easily create and automatically open their Watch lists using Jim Berg's List Creator for MetaStock.

It is also quick and easy to create Books for Users of JB Charting, as follows:

Step 1:

Create a folder and call it 'Watchlists' on the 'C' Drive of your computer. For most operating systems go to My Computer, select New, then Folder and name the folder Watchlists.

Refer also to the full disclaimer at the back of each newsletter Edition and our Terms of Use.

Step 2:

Log into the STE site and download the preferred lists from the Newsletter Members Only Library webpage and paste it into the 'Watchlists' folder created in step 1 above.

Step 3:

Many of the Notepads contain only a few securities and it is quicker to manually create a Book in JB Premium Charting. To do this, select File, Create New Book, Type in Name, select OK and enter the company symbols.

Alternatively, create a Book from a Notepad file (listed on the STE web page) and then past the file into JB Charts. This procedure is only appropriate where a large number of securities are involved.

Highlight the Notepad downloaded in step 2 and copy to the JB Charts Trading Data as follows.

Copy the downloaded file (e.g. 'RSI Jan 14' below)

In My Computer (or Computer) select Local Disk (C:), Trading Data.

Select Stocks.

Select ASX.

Select Lists.

Step 4:

In JB Charting select File, Create New Book. Type in the Name, in this example, RSI Jan 14 and select OK.

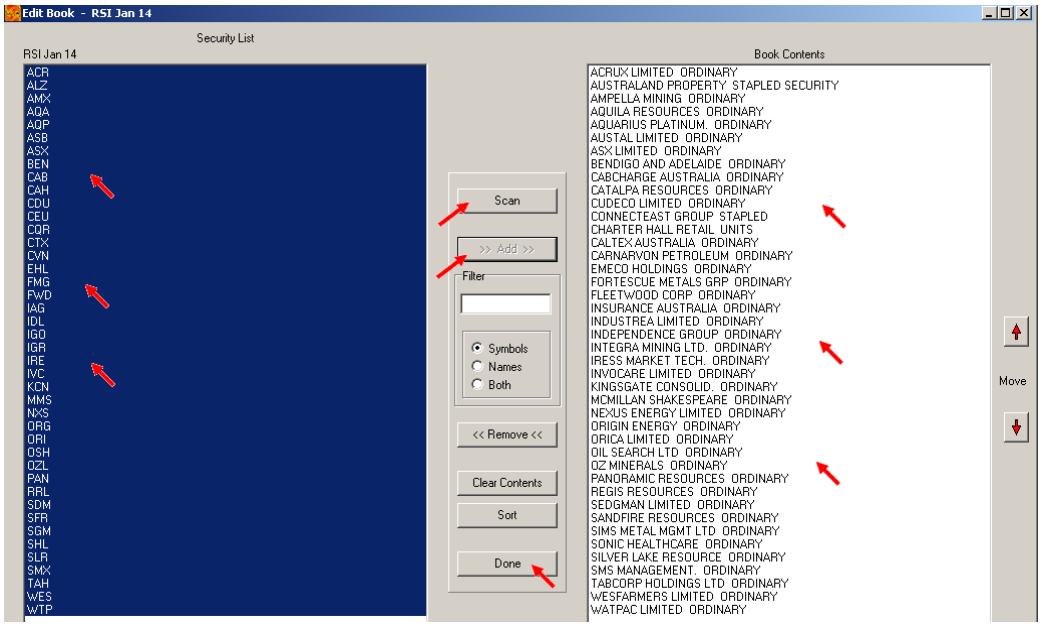
Step 5:

Select Scan, Custom Lists & Continue. Scroll down to 'RSI Jan 14'. Highlight and click on Select. Chart Book will open & list companies in left window. Highlight all symbols and Add to Book Contents window. Select Done. The charts of all the Companies in the 'RSI Jan 14' file should now appear, e.g. as listed below.



Please note:
If you use a charting program other than JB Premium Charts, or the free charting program that comes with JB Premium Data, or MetaStock, refer to your own User Manual for instructions on how to load MS Notepad (txt.) files into your program - so you can upload Jim's JB Watch Lists, then open folders of charts quickly and easily, as shown above.
